EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM TO THE TRAFFIC (REGISTRATION PLATES) RULES 2016

Name of the Statutory Instrument: The Traffic (Registration plates) Rules 2016

Name of the Parent Act: The Traffic Act

Enacted Pursuant to: Section 119 (g) of The Traffic Act.

Name of the Ministry/ Department: Ministry of Transport and Infrastructure/ State Department of Transport.

Gazetted on 15th April 2016

Tabled on

PART II

1. Purpose of the statutory instrument

To provide a legal regime to provide for the new generation registration or number plates and third identifier plate.

2. Legislative Context

The statutory instrument in question is a regulation to provide for a legal regime to support the new generation number plates and third identifier plates. The law contains a requirement that all motor vehicles should bear registration plates which are in a prescribed form. This therefore means that there is need to prescribe the form of registration plates through regulation. The new registration plates contain the following new features which include optical recognizable characters, hologram and water marks.

3. Policy Background

3.1 In August 2014, in recognition of the need to modernize registration plates in order to enhance their security and ensure conformity to international standards, the Ministry of Transport and Infrastructure formed an inter-ministerial team to redesign and modernize motor vehicle number plates. The team submitted its report in October 2014 which was subsequently approved by the Ministry. The Regulations are based on this report which provides for the new design and security features. The report also recommended the use of a third license identifier which will contain an RFID chip which will contain the details of the vehicle.

4. Consultation outcome

4.1 The Authority issued a public notice in three papers of national circulation inviting members of the public from their comments. The public submitted their comments some of which were included in the final Regulations. Further consultations were held with various Government departments including the Kenya Police and Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

4.2 The Ministry of Transport and Infrastructure intends to provide support to further create awareness on the regulations through advertisements in the media and forums.

5. Impact

5.1 The regulations shall have no fundamental effect to the rights and freedoms.

5.2 The regulations will enable National Transport & Safety Authority through its TIMS project to be able to check the level of compliance of the motor vehicles easily as the number plate will contain details of the motor vehicles.

6. Monitoring and review

6.1 The success criteria of this regulation will be a decrease in the loss of motor vehicles through theft due to the enhanced security features. A further indicator of success shall be the shift by all motor vehicles from the current registration plates to the modern plates and the use of the third license identifier within the next two years.
