History of the Kenya Police

The Kenya Police Force came into being when the "Imperial British East Africa Company" undertook to administer the ten mile Coastal strip belonging to the Sultan of Zanzibar. The company which was based at the Coast saw the need to have some kind of security for its premises and stores. The first policemen were then recruited in 1887 and the Kenya Police was thus born.

A properly organized force began operating when the British Government assumed the responsibilities of the "Imperial British East Africa" to administer what is now part of East Africa (Kenya and Uganda). The name of the Force was "British East Africa Police".

The British East African Protectorate, with the exception of the ten mile wide coastal strip leased from the Sultan of Zanzibar was proclaimed a crown colony in July 1920 changing its name to Kenya Colony, while the title of the force changed to Kenya Police Force and its headquarters was moved from Mombasa to Nairobi.

In 1926, the Criminal Intelligence Unit was established with the sole responsibility of collecting, tabulating and recording the history and data of criminals and suspicious persons.

In the same year, the Railway Police Unit was also established to specifically deal with prevention and detection of offences in the railways from the coast to Kisumu, including Kilindini Harbour and branch lines.

As the years progressed, the scope of police activities increased. It was called upon to deal with traffic problems such as accidents and parking. The police were also called upon to deal with cattle rustling in the countryside.

In 1946, the Police Force was placed under the office of the Attorney General. The police officers' powers were increased, and to cope with the new development, a new Police Training Depot was opened in Maseno.

In 1948, several important developments were made in the Force. The Kenya Police Reserve Emergency was formed as an auxiliary of the Force. This Unit used armoured cars and was deployed in trouble spots. To improve the effectiveness of crime control, a dog section was also introduced in 1948 and the General Service Unit established and deployed in troubled areas in emergency situations.

In 1949, the Police Airwing was formed to carry out duties of communication and evacuation of sick persons to hospitals and was made part of the permanent Police Force in January 1953.

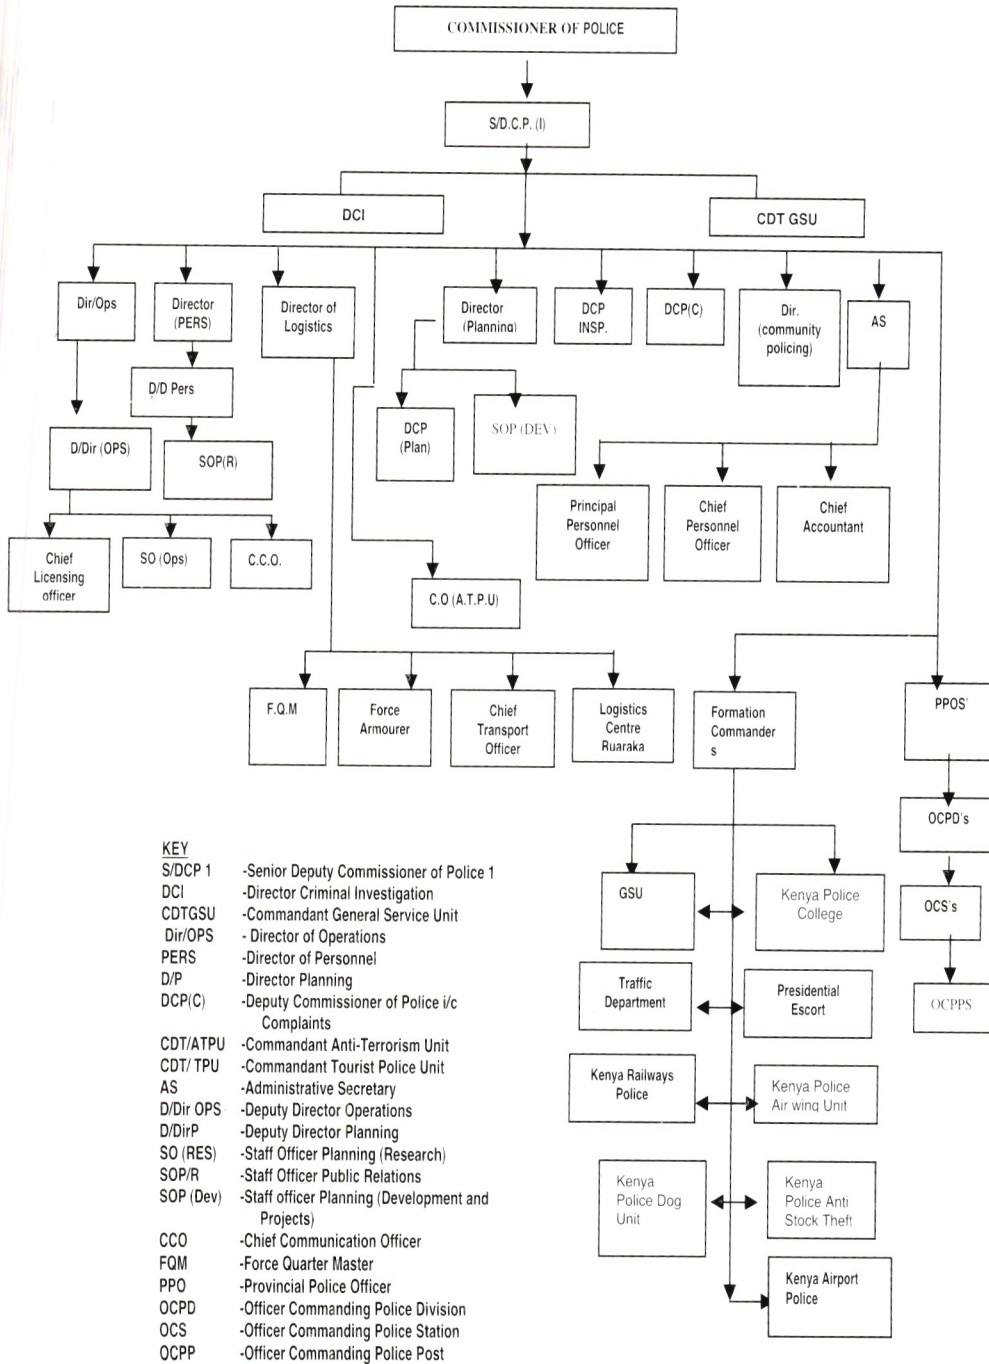

After the declaration of the state of emergency in 1952, there was an immediate increase in personnel to cope with the situation and in response to the Mau Mau insurgency. In 1953, a commission was formed to review the organization, administration and expansion of the Force.

In 1957, the Police Headquarters building was opened and in 1958 the Force was integrated within the Ministry of Defence. In the period prior to independence, the Kenya Police was greatly involved in the maintenance of law and order during political meetings and at the height of the independence election period.

After Kenya gained her independence from Britain on 12th December 1963, there was a need to make some drastic changes in the Administration of the Force. This led to the replacement of the expatriate officers in the senior ranks by Africans. Since then, the Force has realized tremendous achievements in various fields of operation.

Finally, due to the increase in criminal activities and in line with the police resolve to effectively deal with security threats and to bring down crime to minimal levels, various smaller units were formed. These include the Anti-Stock Theft Unit, Kenya Airport Police Unit, Tourism Police Unit, Presidential Escort Unit, Diplomatic and the Anti-Terrorism Police Units.

ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE FOR THE KENYA POLICE FORCE

PART I: FUNCTIONS, ORGANIZATION AND ADMINISTRATION OF THE FORCE

Introduction

The Kenya Police is a National Force under the command of the Commissioner of Police. He is responsible to the Head of State for the efficient organization and administration of the Force through the Minister of State In-charge of Provincial Administration and Internal Security. The office is established under section 108 (1) of the Constitution of Kenya and charged with the overall responsibility of maintaining law and order in the Republic of Kenya.

The Commissioner of Police is assisted by Senior Deputy Commissioner of Police I (S/DCP I) as his principal deputy. The focus of the Government today is on poverty reduction and the improvement of the standard of living for all Kenyans. The role of the Force is to provide an enabling environment for all economic activities by providing security since a guarantee of security brings forth both foreign and local investors confidence. In essence, the core function of the force is to provide security to all residents in Kenya and their property.

Director of Operations

During the year under review the branch continued to guide, coordinate and control operations countrywide. In particular the branch coordinated operations related to:-

- Cattle rustling
- Renewed tribal clashes
- Increase in arrest of corrupt officers in the Public Sector.

There were also incidents of ethnic violence in Likia, Molo, Kuresoi, Elwak, Transmara, Mt. Elgon and Marsabit which were equally handled professionally and nipped at the bud whenever they occurred.

Incidents of car hijacking, armed robberies and illegal trafficking of firearms continued to be of concern during the year under review. However, efforts to curb the vice by the Provincial commanders down to Station commanders were put in place which yielded satisfactory results.

The Government engaged in leasing houses for the officers of other ranks to ease the congestion within the police lines. This strategy started in Nairobi Area which was the most affected by the shortage of houses. During the period under review 964 officers were accommodated in privately rented houses, while 2,400 houses are still required in Nairobi

Area alone. The Government has also purchased, for use by the Police Department, Kenya Breweries Limited properties at Allsopps – Nairobi and Nyalenda – Kisumu at a cost of 205 Million and 25 Million, respectively.

A third strategy was to complete stalled projects to ease office and residential accommodation congestion.

Some of the formerly stalled projects which were completed by the end of the year under review and occupied are as follows:

- Ongata Rongai Divisional Headquarters
- Dog Unit Langata houses
- High ridge housing project
- State House, GSU houses

Achievements of Community Policing

- It has brought members of public close to the Police and this has resulted in reduction of crimes committed,
- It has brought closeness and created confidence from the members of public towards the Police which has enhanced free flow of criminal intelligence.
- By enhancing Community Policing, members of the public now know what Police are doing and this is no longer a secret as each group know what the other is doing for the sole purpose of providing security to the community.
- Community policing has assisted and ensured that security of the members of public is addressed whereby peace prevails and development is achieved in the country at large.

- Before community policing was introduced, the public was viewing the police as enemies, but of now the situation has improved which has created a conducive environment and has brought members of public closer to the police,
- Community policing has made members of public to have confidence in the police and this has made them volunteer information without fear. Such information received is treated in confidence so as not to expose the identity of the informers to criminals.
- The theme of Community policing has since gone down to the village/manyatta level and communities around have seen the reason to co-operate with Police. The communities have formed groups which co-ordinate in their respective areas whereby they in turn pass over information received to Police on criminal intelligence.
- Constituency Development Fund (CDF) projects which include Police patrol bases, traffic offices are coming up through community policing.
- Drug trafficking cases have been reduced.
- Road safety initiative has brought down accident cases through community policing.

Challenges facing Community Policing

- Community Policing Officers find themselves inundated with tasks beyond the traditional scope of law enforcement. As police problem solvers who act as a catalyst for positive change, Community Police officers routinely network with other social service providers, whose support is essential, but whose participation is limited by the fact that they are not out in community each day, alongside the community police officer.
- Much of the misunderstanding about Community Policing stems from the misguided view that it is yet another community relations or "PR" effort without real substance. The is that Community Policing promote excellent police community relations, but only a by-product of this new philosophy that stresses community involvement in combating crime and disorder.
- Before community policing was introduced the public was viewing the police as enemies, but nowadays the situation has improved which has created a conducive environment and has brought members of the public closer to the police.

- Community policing has assisted police to track and net a big number of aliens who were supposedly sneaking to Nairobi City through initiatives of community policing.
- Community policing members asked to be issued with identification cards.
- Lack of Transport and enough fuel in order to reach the community policing programmes
- The majority of those who want to join community policing are unemployed youth who want to benefit from the service financially.

General observation

The mobility in the Police Force has been improved by the additional new vehicles given to all Provinces and Formations. The leasing of private decent houses to accommodate officers of other ranks has boosted morale of the officers hence improvement of service delivery.

LOGISTICS BRANCH

Mr. Levin Mwandi, OGW, DCP
Director of Logistics

During the year under review, the directorate rendered relentless services to ensure that the operations throughout the county were not hampered by lack of common user items, uniforms equipment, machines and other logistics. However, this was not achievable without hurdles and other problems as a result of inadequacy of funds. However, the directorate worked tirelessly day and night to ensure that they met their obligations. The Recruitment of Police Officers in the year under consideration was doubled at Kiganjo and GSU, unlike in the past kept the officers under the directorate on their toes.

PART II: PROVINCIAL COMMANDS

NAIROBI AREA

Mr. Njue Njagi, OGW, DCP
Provincial Police Officer, Nairobi Area

Nairobi Area is a Province in which the Capital City of the Republic of Kenya is situated. The City of Nairobi has an estimated population of about 3.8 million people. During the year under review the Province experienced a drastic decrease of 1831 in serious crime a total of 11517 cases were recorded compared to 13348 in the previous year.

Police Officers worked with a lot of enthusiasm, efficiency and effectiveness during the year. Hawkers' operation to enforce the city by-laws improved the services of business operation within the Nairobi Central Business District (NCBD) making it a liberated crime zone.

Although there were some threats during the part of the year under review from the Al-Qaeda Terrorist Organization, the command was prepared and equipped itself with adequate Police Officers for any disaster. Other bloody skirmishes within the Mathare Slums which were triggered by the outlawed Mungiki and Kamjesh/Taliban were also contained by joint forces of our Police Officers, Administration Police and General Service Unit Personnel.

There was also tremendous mutual co-operation with members of the public through intensive community policing campaign initiatives within the entire province which saw all the police stations harmonizing legal issues with the entire society, hence free flow of the criminal intelligence which produced higher encouraging results.

Trend of Crime

During the year under review Nairobi Area recorded a total of 11,571 serious cases compared with 13,348 cases recorded in the previous year. A decrease of 1,831 cases was noted.

Comparative crime figures for the past three years are appended here below:-

COAST PROVINCE

Mr. Kingori Mwangi, MBS, DCP.
Provincial Police Officer, Coast

The period under review was a challenging one but the core function as security agent was maintained. The proliferation of illicit arms in the Province has led to increase in organized crimes and other anti-social activities but officers have demonstrated professionalism by arresting armed criminals and killing others, however, some of our officers lost their lives.

The Province also experienced floods in Kwale, Tana River, Mombasa and Malindi Districts where many people were displaced and died due to rivers bursting their banks during the end of the year.

Trend of Crime

The Province recorded a total of 9,373 serious cases during the year 2006 which were investigated accordingly as compared to 9,581 cases which were reported in the year 2005, and 8,753 serious cases which were reported in the year 2004. There was a decrease of 204 cases.

This decrease was attributed to drastic measures taken to fight the crime through foot and mobile patrols and organized police raids in criminals' hide-outs and also through the Police Public Partnership (Community Policing).

The comparative figures for the three years are as indicated here below:-

RIFT VALLEY PROVINCE

Mr. Everret S. Wasige, DCP
Provincial Police Officer, Rift Valley Province

Rift Valley Province is the biggest in the Republic of Kenya with an area of 182,413 square kilometers, with an estimated population of about 7 million people. There are 22 Police Divisions, 91 Police Stations, 73 Police Posts and 117 Patrol Bases. There is proposal for additional Police Divisions which has come about with the gazettement of New Districts in Kenya.

The Province may be classified into two crime zones, those allied to operational areas, thus Lokitaung, Turkana, West Pokot, Marakwet, Samburu, Keiyo and, partly Laikipia Divisions. The other fifteen divisions are non-operational. A total of 19,693 serious crimes were reported during the year under review as compared to 18,859 reported in 2005

The year 2006 was busy in terms of crime prevention; however, there was an upsurge in car jacking incidents, highway robberies cattle rustling and other banditry activities. In this regard, our officers worked tirelessly to bring the situation to normal. Members of the public played a major role due to the enhanced community policing initiatives, as there was increased co-operation between them and the police.

CENTRAL PROVINCE

Mr. Philip B. Ndwiga, MBS, SS, DCP
Provincial Police Officer, Central Province

The province has an area of 13,220 square kilometers, with a population estimated at 3.7 million people.

During the year under review a total of 11,430 serious cases were reported compared to 12,449 cases reported in the previous year and a decrease of 1,019 cases was noted.

The year had been peaceful unlike the previous year where we had referendum activities although there were various Mungiki operations in the areas believed to be infested by the outlawed sect adherents. However, maintenance of law and order was discharged to the fullest despite meager operational resources which were available.

NORTH EASTERN PROVINCE

Mr. Antony Kibuchi, OGW, Ag. DCP
Provincial Police Officer, North Eastern Province

The year under review will be remembered as a year in which residents of North Eastern Province and Kenyans at large were humbled by one major disaster in the country. This was the Marsabit Air Crash in which fourteen government officials i.e. political leaders of high caliber and senior government officials perished. They were on a peace keeping mission among hostile clans in the northern part of Kenya.

Apart from these catastrophies, peace processes were initiated in the province and a break through realized and the Provincial and respective District Security Committees played a great role in arbitrating and harmonizing hatred and clanism amongst the communities within the Province.

Trend of Crime

A total of 718 serious crimes were reported during the year under review compared with 678 cases reported in the previous year thus showing an increase of 40 cases.

EASTERN PROVINCE

Mr. Jonathan K. Koskei, ss, ndc (k), DCP
Provincial Police Officer, Eastern Province

The year under review had a lot of challenges in the Northern Part of the Province. In Marsabit District there were several incidents of banditry attacks especially along the Kenya Ethiopia boarder where many people were killed and livestock and firearm stolen. The invaders were mostly from Ethiopia. Combined operations involving the Regular Police, Administration Police, GSU, ASTU and Kenya Army were carried out to recover illegal firearms and also to prevent continued tribal clashes.

The Province also experienced one of the worst air Disasters which claimed important dignitaries who were on a peace mission to reconcile the Gabras and the Borans. The District security and intelligence committee of both Districts initiated peace meetings between the Gabras and the Boranas. Peace talks were also extended to the neighbouring country and the result has been very encouraging as banditry and cattle rustling activities has reduced tremendously since the peace initiative commenced.

Trend of Crime

The Province recorded a total of 10,667 serious cases as compared to 10,200 reported in the previous year. There was an increase representing 4.45% which was noted in dangerous drugs, criminal damage, economic crimes and offences against morality.

PART III. FORMATIONS
CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION DEPARTMENT (C.I.D.)

Mr. Karanja Gatiba, OGW Ag. S/DCP II
Director of Criminal Investigation

The year 2006 was a busy one for the department. It saw a joint operation christened Operation-Umoja organized and carried out by officers from the three East African countries on used vehicles imported from other countries. In Kenya alone, a total of 108 motor vehicles were impounded but later released back to the owners pending further investigations. The operations consequently created awareness to the members of public on the existence of stolen motor vehicles and they started making inquiries with us on the status of motor vehicles before buying.

The fight against crime, which was, and remains the primary concern of the police, posed a serious challenge to the department. Through the tireless efforts of the officers, there was a reduction of serious crime from 81,626 to 77,655 cases. The maintenance of public safety and crime prevention took the center stage. As a result of fighting in Somalia, our officers are on high alert, and relentless efforts are already in place to curb proliferation of arms and crossing over of militiamen with AL-QAEDA links.

The department's plan to review and to innovate the strategies that would incorporate improvement of police technology to meet the new threats and challenges ahead of the force posed by the sophistication of crime.

C.I.D. Operations

During the year under review the operations Branch continued to guide, coordinate and control CID Operations Countrywide. The Operations matters were properly collected, collated and disseminated to other user units. The section confidently handled all matters of Operations effectively.

The Operations Branch recorded a total of 77,655 cases, which were reported countrywide during the year under review as compared to 81,621 cases recorded in the previous year this was a decrease by 3,966 cases which translates to 4.9%.

(ii) Serious Crime Unit- deals with cases of serious nature: - Homicide, Organized Crimes, Anti-terrorism, Trafficking in Human being, juvenile delinquency/pedophiles and environmental crime.

Recovered Motor Vehicles

During the year nine (9) motor vehicles were recovered outside Kenya compared to eleven (11) vehicles recovered in 2005 and restored back to their owners. We have also been able to insert all our stolen motor vehicles in the worldwide stolen vehicles database (ASF-Automated Search Facility)

Anti- Narcotic Unit

The common drugs of abuse in Kenya are mainly cannabis sativa (bhang), heroin and cocaine. Cannabis sativa is the most widely abused drug in the country. However, Kenya is largely a transit country for heroin and cocaine from drug source countries destined to Europe and America due to its geographical location and good transport and communication networks.

The enforcement of drug law in Kenya is a duty vested on the Kenya Police Force. However, the Anti-Narcotics Unit was created in the early eighties solely to enforce the law related to drugs. Other Government Departments especially Customs and Immigration also have a role to play in the fight against drugs by virtue of their nature of duty.

During the year under review the drugs were seized and suspects arrested as shown here below:-

Kenya Revenue Authority

Kenya Revenue Authority Police Unit is popularly known as Revenue Protection Services (RPS) within Kenya Revenue Authority community and was formed in 1998 through 1998/99 Financial Bill. This was in response to administrative challenges facing the Authority (KRA) in relation to tax evasion and other tax related offence.

The main objective of the Unit is to enhance tax administration laws and regulations. In carrying out its mandate, the Unit targets sectors or industries where incidents of tax evasion and fraud are rampant. It also relies on leads provided by informers as well as reports such as those of Parliamentary Accounts Committee (P.A.C.), Public Investment Committee (P.I.C.) or any other committee and the media. The Unit is supposed to be impartial while performing its duties within the KRA.

Trend of Crime

GENERAL SERVICE UNIT

Mr. Mathew Itere, EBS, OGW, S/DCP II
Commandant General Unit

The year under review was a busy one for the Unit in the discharge of its operational mandate. The field commanders were deployed throughout the Republic to reinforce other law enforcement agencies in combating crime and general maintenance of law and order.

The general Service Unit dealt specifically with cases of cattle rustling, banditry activities, quelling of tribal clashes, and robbery with violence. The Unit was also involved in ensuring that peace prevailed during the referendum campaigns in Nairobi, Mombasa, Kisumu, Kakamega and all other Provinces as need arose.

Health Centre

The Unit Health Centre is manned by both uniformed and civilian clinical officers and nurses. During the year under review the health centre handled 21,195 out patients and 1,187 family planning attendants. The Centre continued to receive medical supplies from Kenya Medical Supplies Agency (KEMSA) while the mobile clinics got their supplies from the District Medical Health in the Districts where they are based.

Mobile Clinics

There are mobile clinics of the Unit based in General Service Unit Training School, Recce Coy Ruiru, Recce Coy Molo, Kibera Camp, Todonyang Camp, Kibish Camp, Magadi Camp and Mutuati Camp. The health centre and the mobile clinics handle cases of normal ailments while complicated and emergency cases are referred to major hospitals like Kenyatta National Hospital, Armed Forces Memorial Hospital and other referral hospitals in the country.

Unit Armoury

The duty of armourer's section is to inspect, repair and generally maintain the Units arms and ammunitions. During the year under review the section inspected 2,129 firearms, 2,120 were found serviceable and 9 were found beyond the repair by the Unit which were forwarded to Central Firearms workshop for major repairs.

KENYA POLICE AIR WING

Mr. Gilbert H. Gitonga, OGW, ACP
Commandant Police Air wing

The year under review was challenging one and full of motivating factors to the Kenya Police Air wing personnel. The support to the Police Department and the Government ministries was challenging due to the fact that the Air wing lacked adequately qualified and experienced personnel. The training approved earlier started during the last quarter of the year when the fixed wings became serviceable. By the end of the year under review, five fixed pilots had been trained to full qualification making a total of eight operational fixed wing pilots. Three pilots completed the helicopter conversion course with the Kenya Army Helicopter Training School and will be trained in-house to full qualification in the types of aircraft of the Police Air wing.

Flying Department

Towards the end of the year, the unit had a total of 23 pilots and 2 students' pilots. Out of these 8 were operational (4 Helicopters and 4 fixed wing), 15 pilots at different levels of training. The MI-17 helicopters as a part of minimum crew had 3 flight engineers and 6 cabin crew. The department is also charged with the responsibility of overseeing pilot training following the establishment of training doctrine.

Helicopter Section

The unit has seven helicopters. Four were MI-17, two Bell and one Eurocopter BO-105 CBS-4. The BO-105 helicopter did not fly at all during the year under review due to lack of specialized inspections tools and lack of a type rated pilot. The Bell 47 helicopter did not fly at all after an accident and is still awaiting spares, while the Bell 206 L1 complied with the manufacturer's mandatory bulleting and had some structural repair done. By the end of the year it had flown over 200 hours. It was used intensively to rescue people in parts of North Eastern and Coast Provinces during the Tana River flash floods. Over 520 people were rescued during the operation which lasted over 10 days.

Cabin Crew (MI-17)

There were 6 trained crew deployed as part of minimum crew of MI-17 helicopters. One has done Clinical Officers Course and the other Diploma in Nursing. This training is meant to enhance our operational capability given any unforeseen situations.

Fixed Wing Section

This section consisted of 19 pilots at different levels of qualification and experience. It was headed by a fully qualified pilot and included the Commandant and Safety Officer. Nine of these were operational while the rest were awaiting training.

Flight Engineering (MI-17)

This sub-section comprised of 3 factory- trained MI-17 flight Engineers who operate independently after the departure of the Russian experts. They operate under dispensation while they wait to pass the Kenya Civil Aviation Authority examination while one of them passed the engineers exam and is waiting for Oral examination.

Operations Department

This is a newly incorporated department in the Kenya Police Air wing headed by the Staff Officer Operations who is a qualified Helicopter Instructor Pilot. This is a very vital department in the unit as it creates a link between other police units and the Air wing Headquarters thereby enhancing smooth flow of activities and information. The department, although not on the authorized establishment, is structured in such a way that the personnel and setup conforms to current International Civil Aviation Organization and Kenya Civil Aviation Authority (CAO/KCAA) standard recommended practices on one hand and requirements of the police force on the other.

ANTI-STOCK THEFT UNIT

Mr. Moses N. Ombati, OGW S/ACP
Commandant Anti Stock theft Unit

During the year under review stock theft and allied cases increased from 446 in 2005 to 550 in 2006. The number of stolen cattle decreased from 1981 in 2005 to 1505 in the year under review. The number of stolen sheep/goats increased from 2648 in 2005 to 2826 in 2006.

In the year under review there were inter-tribal raid/clashes where animals were targeted in the conflict. The Samburu and Pokots clashes in Laikipia and Baringo Districts had a thorn in the flesh in the year under review. This had been a challenge to the unit and where they raided the community exaggerated the number of animals stolen believing that compensation will be to their advantage which has resulted in reduced recovery rate. The recovery rate of stolen cattle decreased from 71.8% in 2005 to 57% in the year under review. The total value of recovered stolen stock increased from Ksh. 13,025,000.00 in 2005 to 15,079,000.00 in 2006. The total value of stolen stock increased from Ksh. 25,379,100.00 in 2005 to Ksh. 26, 840,600.00 in 2006.

The number of cases reported increased due to good working relationship between the officers and the public through Community Policing and good service delivery. The officers are dedicated to their work and there was no major complaint against police reported.

DOG UNIT

Mr. Hamisi S. Massa, OGW., S/ACP.
Commandant Dog Unit

During the year under review, the Unit continued to provide better services in spite of increasing challenges. The Unit maintained the dogs in good health and standard.

During this year, 152 dog handlers were posted permanently to Police Stations in all Provinces except North Eastern Province. Formations like KAPU, Logistic Centre Ruaraka had dog handlers transferred there permanently after kennels were built. They brought services of police dogs nearer to the Police Stations.

Other activities undertaken during the year include intensive breeding of dogs and introduction of Commercial Dog Food to Police dogs which has indeed produced good results and one that the dogs have adjusted to in comparison to the previous feeding methods.

Care and Maintenance of Dogs

During the year under review the officers continued discharging their duties diligently in spite of enormous challenges experienced. The Unit however continued to perform its duties towards well maintenance of police dogs including:-

- Kennels hygiene
- Worming
- Feeding
- Vaccination
- Grooming
- Chemotherapy
- Dipping

The control of dog diseases was given the highest attention thus no unnecessary death of poldogs was reported apart from those that were beyond control. Poldogs' health showed great improvement arising from the introduction of the current feeding system that has also minimized labour and time that was previously used to prepare dog food.

Training

During the year under review the Unit undertook the training of dogs and personnel. Forty five Police constables were trained on initial course of Dog Handlers. Twenty were drawn from GSU and 25 from General Duties. This training was meant to expose them to procedures appertaining to the work related to dog handling and care of dogs.

ANTI-TERRORISM POLICE UNIT

Mr. Nicholas I. Kamwende, ACP.
Officer Commanding Anti Terrorist Police Unit

During the year under review, the Unit's Headquarters and Joint Terrorism Task Force (JTTF) Nairobi were relocated to the former Nairobi Area Provincial Police Headquarters in Upper Hill, Nairobi.

Terrorism Situation

Throughout the year we continued to receive terrorist alerts including bomb hoaxes to several facilities in the country. Necessary measures were taken with no resultant incidents taking place within the year. The contiguous countries were calm with the exception of Somali which saw the ascendance of the Islamic Courts Union (ICU) to position of authority in that country. The Alliance for the Restoration of Peace and Counter Terrorism (ARPCT) was dislodged from power. There is apprehension of the prevailing situation in Somalia due to known association of the ICU with Al-Itihad Al Islamiya (AIAI) which is considered and Al Qaeda inspired group.

Trend of crime

There were 112 suspects interrogated during the year under review, 25 cases taken to court while the rest were vetted and released.

The year under review was quite challenging for the Unit given that terrorism is a persistent phenomenon globally. The intricate nature of terrorism called for the formation of Joint Counter-Terrorism Task Force. Since then the Unit has taken up the challenges with dedication and determination and has been able to suppress, deter and disrupt terrorism menace through prompt investigations and prosecution of suspects.

TOURIST POLICE UNIT

Mrs. Rose W. Mbae, HSC, Ag.ACP
Officer Commanding Tourist Police Unit

The year under review was a busy and challenging one as far as Tourist Police Unit duties were concerned. The tourism industry realized a big increase in the number of tourists who visited the country for their holidays and this made the officers work round the clock to ensure safety and security to the visitors.

GENERAL SERVICE UNIT, TRAINING SCHOOL

Mr. Philip Tuimur, S/ACP.

The year under review had its unique challenges. For the first time since inception of the GSU Training School, there was a double intake of the recruit police constables. This led to strain of available physical and human resources. Nevertheless, the Commanding officer with the support of faculty/section head ensured that the available resources were put together to ensure high standards of Police/paramilitary training.

The school is supplemented in its training programmes by the General Service Unit Magadi Field training Camp. The Camp is located about 128 kilometers South West of Nairobi in Kajiado District. The Camp is designed for the purpose of field training and exercise for all courses run in the Unit.

FORCE DRIVING SCHOOL

Mr. Henry K. Malonza, SSP

The year under review had its challenges but we managed to have short courses (orientation) due to the shortage of drivers in the force. The improvement of the economy and with the support of the Commissioner's office the school did its best to accomplish its objectives which has enabled the participants to acquire certificates of competency. The orientation course which took one and a half months to complete made the institution train more drivers within a short period.

During the year under review a total of 313 officers were trained. The following are comparative figures for the officers trained during the past three years:-

PART V. SPECIALIZED UNITS
COMMUNICATIONS BRANCH

Mr. Francis Gachina, ACP
Chief Communications Officer

The year under review had a lot of challenges in sustaining normal communication, attending to breakdowns and general communication operations.

During the year a new section ICT was formed in the month of April to deal with issues appertaining to IT. This section is solely responsible for integrating and enhancing the Information Technologies within the Police department. The routine maintenance of the network was undertaken in the entire country with the limited resource available. The backup spares and modules for the analogue microwave systems have been exhausted.

In spite of some logistical problems, the staff managed to keep most of the communications system operational. Under Phase III of this project, most of the new divisions were provided with radio telephone and data equipment.

General Status of Equipment

The Kenya Police operates an independent Analogue Microwave Radio Communication System. The system has been reliable since its installation and has offered the required nationwide communication link, although it is slow in data transmission and being insecure especially on voice communication.

International Police Organization (Interpol)

Kenya is the Regional Headquarters and the radio control station for Eastern and Southern Africa. For ease of communication and administration, Interpol member countries are divided into zones and Kenya is the headquarters of zone 5 which consists of nineteen stations in East and Southern Africa.

This station deals with the transmission and reception of messages from zone member countries and the Interpol Secretariat in Lyon, France. The regional station is at CID Headquarters Mazingira House. The secretariat has adopted a new system coded 1.24/7 global communication system. This has enabled Interpol to communicate through VSAT worldwide.

Interpol Nairobi Regional Station

During the year under review a total of 17,310 messages were handled by the Nairobi Regional office, out of this number, 15,564 messages were received 1,746 messages transmitted. The Nairobi Regional office serves the following stations:-

- | | |
|----------------|----------------|
| 1. Rwanda | 2. Botswana |
| 3. Uganda | 4. Tanzania |
| 5. Mauritius | 6. Sudan |
| 7.. Ethiopia | 8. Burundi |
| 9. Seychelles | 10. Djibouti |
| 11. Somalia | 12. Malawi |
| 13. Madagascar | 14. Mozambique |
| 15. Swaziland | 16. Lesotho |
| 17. Zimbabwe | 18. Kenya |
| 19. Namibia | |

ICT Sub Section

The Sub-Section works under the supervision of the Chief Communication officer. It works in conjunction with the Government Information Technology Services (GITS) and the e-Government Directorate.

TRANSPORT BRANCH

Mr. F.N. Kamau
Chief Transport Officer

The year under review saw the Transport Branch collaborated with the different branches in the force to ensure that security and order have been greatly contributed to. There was struggle to maintain the entire Police Force mobile notwithstanding a marked deficit in vehicle strength throughout the country which was also contributed by the conception of new Divisions.

The current vehicle strength is 2164 units as compared to a revised establishment requirement of 4542 units. This gives a shortfall of 2388 units. Therefore, in order to address the issue of transport up to Police Patrol Base level, at least 2,388 more vehicles are required. These are estimated to be as follows:-

MAKE/TYPE	DEFICIT
Lorries	544
Buses	9
Minibuses	14
Land Rovers	1353
Cars	257
Nissan X-Tail	40
Mitsubishi Pajero	3
Vans	8
Ambulances	20
Water Bowzers	9

Horse Transporter	2
Breakdowns	10
Fuel Tanker	3
Motor Cycles	98
Patrol Boats	18
TOTAL	2,388

During the year under review Branch's target was to support Police duties by covering at least 43,800,000 kilometers during the calendar year under review. However, due to lack of adequate vehicles, fuel, spare parts and technical manpower, only about 41,800,000 kilometers were covered as compared to 41,100,000 kilometers covered during the previous year.

Maintenance and Repairs

The Police Workshops carried out about 16,000 repairs of various categories as opposed to the target of 22,000 repairs during the year under review. The workshops output were less than anticipated owing to lack of adequate funds to purchase spare parts, lack of tools and equipment, and shortage of manpower.

The Manpower

The technical manpower strength has reduced drastically owing to voluntary early retirement and natural attrition. The current strength stands at 311 against the approved establishment of 809 giving a shortage of 498 personnel. This shortage affects the efficiency of the Branch.

Accident to Police Vehicles

During the year under review, accidents to the police vehicles reduced significantly from 138 to 93. This was attributed to the lectures, advice and stern instructions given to drivers during the inspections by officers from this Headquarters requiring them to take good care of the police vehicles.

FORCE ARMOURY SECTION

Mr. Douglas K. Kirocho, SSP
Chief Force Armourer

The primary functions of the Chief Force Armourer section is to inspect, service, repair and maintain all Government firearms except for the Kenya Army, Air Force and the Kenya Navy.

AIDS CONTROL UNIT

Mr. Daniel Kebenei, ndc (K), S/ACP
Officer in-Charge/Aids Control Unit

The year under review has been a challenging one for this unit. The immediate challenges facing the Officers include their high vulnerability. The department lost some officers during the year due to HIV/AIDS related illness.

The other challenge includes the accessibility of ARV drugs and also identifying officers in need of the drugs.

Through the support of the Commissioner of Police, Senior Officers and Provincial/Formation Commanders, the Unit was able to conduct the following activities:-

- Monitoring and evaluation exercises in provinces
- Peer education management of rape survivors
- Peer education meetings and seminars
- Supervision visits
- Printing of behaviour change communication (BCC) materials
- Retreat for development of work station policy
- National organization of peer conference
