Reference is made to the aforementioned matter.

Please note that the above regulations were gazetted on 24th February 2022.

The said regulations are hereby forwarded to you together with the Explanatory Memorandum for your necessary action.

Yours

Fred Matiang'i, PhD, EGH
CABINET SECRETARY

Encls.

3.0 Policy Background

3.1 Terrorism is a global menace and all States are called upon to combat it. One way of combating it is by enacting and enforcing appropriate laws. The enactment of the Prevention of Terrorism Act was meant to achieve this end. One of its purposes as provided in its preamble is to provide measures for the detection and prevention of terrorist activities. These Regulations are meant to augment the Act and ensure that our laws are aligned with the Security Council Resolutions on Terrorism.

4.0 Consultation outcome

4.1 These Regulations were not subjected to public participation. Although Article 10 and 118 of the Constitution requires public participation in the enactment of laws, this requirement may be limited under Article 24 of the Constitution in cases where the limitation is reasonable and justifiable in an open and democratic society. The Regulations at hand fall within this limitation. They need not be subjected to public participation.

4.2 The reason for this is that they are meant to tackle terrorism which is a very sensitive issue affecting public safety and wellbeing. Subjecting them to public participation is likely to be counter-productive. The process is likely to be infiltrated by terrorist or their sympathisers with disastrous consequences. The Government's strategies for combating terrorism are likely to be exposed rendering them ineffective.

4.3 Section 35 of the Prevention of Terrorism Act recognises that fundamental rights and freedoms may be limited and this is meant to facilitate the effective fight against terrorism.

5.0 Guidance

The Ministry of Interior and Coordination of National Government has organized meetings with line Departments and Agencies such as the Directorate of Criminal Investigations, National Police Service and National Counter-Terrorism Centre to explain to them their obligations under the Regulations and to ensure that they fulfil the same. The Ministry has also engaged the Ministry of Foreign Affairs who are critical actors in the enforcement of the Prevention of Terrorism Act.

6.0 Impact

6.1 The impact of the Regulations on fundamental rights and freedoms is to limit the enjoyment of such rights and freedoms by terrorists and their financiers. As noted above, the limitation is reasonable and justifiable in an open and democratic society.

6.2 The impact of the Regulations on the private sector is to limit the capacity of private sector institutions like banks to conduct transactions with terrorists and their financiers. Funds belonging to such persons are liable to be frozen.

2.2 The Security Council had through several resolutions namely 1267 (1999), 1373 (2001), 1718 (2006) and 1988 (2011) called upon members to take necessary measures to combat terrorism. These Regulations have been formulated pursuant to those resolutions and section 50(1) of the Prevention of Terrorism Act, 2012.
